
New NCDFREE Film: Tackling Trauma

Langue Anglais

NCDFREE has released its latest film Tackling Trauma. The film follows the story of Frank, an asylum seeker in Denmark, who receives both health and social support from a local volunteer run project called Trampoline House.

Exploring the topics of migrational health and noncommunicable diseases (NCDs), this film combines two important global health topics, whilst highlighting the need for all humans to have networks.

Watch the recent launch event held at UCL in London on periscope [1], including a Q&A with filmmaker Silas Addington, and panel discussion with Katie Dain (NCD Alliance), Celina Gorre (Global Alliance for Chronic Disease [2]) and Miriam Orcutt [3] (UCL Institute for Global Health), exploring the wider issue of NCDs and migrational health.

View the film following the link below.

Post Date: Tuesday, 20 décembre, 2016

Category - News: Announcements

Related Link: NCDFREE's Tackling Trauma [4]

Source URL: <https://old.ncdalliance.org/fr/node/8834>

Liens

[1] <https://www.periscope.tv/w/1ynJONvLAdZGR>

[2] <http://www.gacd.org>

[3] <https://twitter.com/miriamorcutt>

[4] <https://youtu.be/N1Gf60txrhw>