

International health advocates ask Ecuador to stand firm and defend the right to health

Language English

NCD Alliance and other international public health organisations have sent a letter today to President of the Republic of Ecuador, Rafael Correa, urging him to maintain the traffic light labelling scheme as an effective tool to tackle NCDs, reduce overweight & obesity, and improve nutrition and health.

"[...] We are greatly concerned to have received news that the Ministry for Industry and Productivity of Ecuador proposes to modify the current processed food and soft drink labelling system (in force since August 2014), and prioritise the interests of companies that produce such products over public health objectives".

Download full letter in English and Spanish via the links below.

Follow #EtiquetadoSi for live updates.

Post Date: Wednesday, 31 August, 2016

Category - News: Announcements

Related Resource: Processed food and soft drink labelling system in Ecuador - Letter to President Rafael Correa [1]
Ecuador: Etiquetado de alimentos procesados y bebidas azucaradas - Carta al Sr. Presidente Rafael Correa [2]

Teaser Image:

Square Image:

Source URL: <https://old.ncdalliance.org/news-events/news/international-health-advocates-ask-ecuador-to-stand-firm-and-defend-the-right-to-health>

Links

[1] <https://old.ncdalliance.org/resources/processed-food-and-soft-drink-labelling-system-in-ecuador-letter-to-president-rafael-correa>

[2] <https://old.ncdalliance.org/node/8638>