Extended Description: The zero draft of the Political Declaration for the 2025 UN High-Level Meeting on NCDs and Mental Health is finally here—marking a critical juncture in the road to September. This first full version of the negotiated text reveals where governments are aligning, what's being prioritised, and how ambitious the global response to NCDs and mental health is shaping up to be.

This is our moment to raise the bar. The zero draft offers a key window for advocates to influence the political agenda—pushing for bolder commitments, stronger accountability, and real investment in NCD prevention and care. What's in the draft—and what's missing—matters.

On Tuesday, 20 May, NCD Alliance organised a special webinar to unpack the Zero Draft, explore advocacy entry points, and discuss next steps toward a declaration that delivers a positive impact.
